

¡Hola!

Monday, November 5, 2007 at 12:25am

Boy, do I ever miss ranting. I'm stuck between not letting my emotions take over my blog, not offending anyone, giving up sleep/study time. I'm way overdue. Nothing clears your head quite like expressing yourself via a log, eh?

I'm pumped - I should have a web page up and running soon to help with fundraising for Costa Rica. I need more money than I thought I would. I think it'll be good though. I don't want to sound egotistical, but I think this trip is more for me than the wonderful people in Costa Rica who can use my help. I want to gain skills over there that will make me a better contributor here at home.

Bed time, this productive day must end with some productive sleep. Cheers!

-Andrew